

PanAmerican Seed is an international company that specialises in the breeding, production and marketing of top-quality stock material for perennial plants, cut flowers and bedding plants. PanAmerican is part of the Ball Horticultural Group, a family business whose head office is located in West Chicago, America. With an international team of motivated people we breed, produce and sell our plant varieties to the satisfaction of growers and consumers.

Our employees in the breeding department focus on the development and innovation of our variety range. For our site in Venhuizen, North Holland, we are looking for an enthusiastic and creative

Plant Breeder (m/f)

Job description:

You will work with several colleagues in an international work environment on the breeding of a wide range of ornamental plants. Your main tasks will be to set up and implement breeding programmes and to prepare, establish and select trials. You will also analyse and process the research data obtained. You will have a lot of contacts with other employees in our company, both in The Netherlands and abroad.

Job requirements::

A completed course of study at the Agricultural College of the University of Wageningen, preferably specialising in plant breeding. You will have a strong affinity for ornamental plants and in particular the breeding of these.

An essential part of your responsibilities will be the careful establishment and conducting of trials, both in The Netherlands and abroad. You will be well informed about the applicability of the latest breeding techniques. In addition, you will be capable of analysing the research results and converting these into programmes within your team.

You will also have good communication skills and a good command of both spoken and written Dutch and English. Important requirements for this job are that you should be customer and result oriented, you regard challenges as a strong motivation for innovation and creativity, you have an eye for detail and you are persistent and practical.

What we offer:

We offer an interesting job in our thriving organisation. The Collective Labour Agreement (CAO) for Garden Seed Companies forms the basis of our remuneration package, which consists, among other things, of a first-class salary and excellent employment conditions. Our informal corporate culture provides employees with all the freedom they need to work on their own initiative.
